PROFESSOR DEBRA NESTEL

Debra Nestel is Professor of Simulation Education in Healthcare, Monash Institute for Health and Clinical Education (MIHCE), Monash University, and Professor of Surgical Education, Department of Surgery, University of Melbourne, Australia.

Debra is Editor in Chief, Advances in Simulation (www.advancesinsimulation.com), the journal of the Society in Europe for Simulation Applied to Medicine (SESAM). She is program lead for the Master of Surgical Education (Department of Surgery, University of Melbourne and Royal Australasian College of Surgeons) and Master of Surgical Science (University of Melbourne) and Graduate Certificate in Clinical Simulation (Monash University).

She leads several short courses through MIHCE, the latest - Qualitative Research for Health Professions Education (QRHPE). Debra leads a national program for simulation educators – NHET-Sim (www.nhet-sim.edu.au) and a virtual network in simulated patient methodology (www.simulatedpatientnetwork.org).

Debra has published over 200 peer-reviewed papers in health professions education, edited books on simulated patient methodology (2015), healthcare simulation (2017), surgical education (to be published in 2019) and is working with colleagues on an edited book on research methods for healthcare simulation (for 2019) www.researchgate.net/profile/Debra_Nestel

SUBMIT YOUR IDEAS NOW!

Following our guest speaker, we will provide an opportunity for 12 small oral presentations using the Pecha Kuchu style (Japanese for “chit-chat”).

PECHA KUCHU STYLE:

These small oral presentations should aim to visually and rapidly showcase an innovation idea you are planning or a project that you have commenced that you would like feedback on.

You have two choices for the format of your Pecha Kuchu presentation.

1. 20 images, each for 20 seconds OR
2. 5 slides in 5 minutes.

There will be 4-5 minutes allowed for questions and discussion.

HOW TO SUBMIT:

Email your interest in presenting your simulation ideas along with a title of your “chat” to: vsa@vicsim.org.au by COB 22 November, 2018
